

On Demand Training

Enable Your Employees, Partners and Customers to Keep Up With Today's Technology

Today, more than ever, ongoing training is a must. The pace of technological innovation makes it obvious that skills can become obsolete as soon as next year — or even next month.

For most people, committing to ongoing training is easier said than done, as very few can take hours or days away from the workplace for classroom courses. And few companies have the budget to cover travel to distant learning centers.

With On Demand Training from Shyft Global Services' award-winning training platform — delivered by ExitCertified — you have 24/7 access to vendor-certified training, and all it takes is a computer and an internet connection. On Demand Training provides users the same high-quality content found in traditional classrooms.

Enable users to stop, start, rewind or repeat lessons anytime they want, and to find the answers they need in a hurry through fully searchable lessons — all in a cost-efficient format that keeps your customers operational at a time when they need it.

24/7 Access to Vendor-Approved Content

There are many options when it comes to providing certification and training content online. But nothing quite compares to the convenience, flexibility and efficiency of On Demand.
